

Outdoor Basic Skills Training - Spring 2008

Whether your troop is planning an outdoor picnic at Chena Lakes, a hiking trip at Granite Tors, or sleeping under the midnight sun, the first step to the great outdoors for leaders is Outdoor Basic Skills training. This two session course open to all registered adults will help prepare you to teach the girls in your troop the basic outdoor skills necessary for safe and successful outdoor fun.

Session I, an indoor session, covers some basic skill instruction, council policies and safety procedures. Saturday's Session II puts those skills and new ones together at an outdoor camp site where participants will build a fire and cook a meal. Both sessions are required for course credit. By Council policy all troops are required to have one registered adult who has completed an Outdoor Basic Skills course accompany the troop on all camping events.

For more information call the Girl Scout Council office at 456-4782
